

FIELDSTONE FARM

2013 ANNUAL REPORT

A HORSE CAN CHANGE A LIFE

“Speaking spontaneously is not common for Josh. But the very first time he rode, he said the words, ‘walk on’ to his horse. It is very powerful to see what a motivator this experience can be for children, especially for Josh. From the moment we pull into the parking lot, my son is so happy to be here and I know it is going to be a good day.”

– Brook Watts, MD, mother of Josh, who has Down syndrome

Dear Friends,

Behind every successful business, there are usually several success factors. For a therapeutic riding program, there are five critical areas of impact. The past year was one in which all five rose to the top!

Our students have remained faithful participants. Some have been coming to us for more than 30 years. Others, who took a break for a period of time, came back this past year. In schools and group participants, we saw both new and returning partners. We are very proud to report that our student volume went up by 10 percent.

Our incredibly giving volunteers not only donated approximately $500,000 of service, but for the 5th year in a row, they led their own fundraising campaign and raised more than $35,000 toward the care of our horses! Additionally, our talented Board of Trustees continues to work very hard on governing our program and implementing our strategic plan.

Through some diligent efforts on the part of our barn staff and with the guidance of our horse care professionals, we were able to greatly improve our horses’ average productivity. We have the healthiest and happiest herd ever, which translates into even better service to our students.

Our dedicated staff team once again showed their ability to react to community needs by creating and expanding our program offerings. One prime example is in the partnership that we developed with the Volunteers of America in order to better serve veteran populations. Combining participation with service, the veterans in this year-round program have overcome many personal obstacles that have carried over into happier and more productive daily lives.

Of course, none of what we do would be possible without the generous support of our kind-hearted donors. Their belief in the transformative power of horses enabled us to end the year with one of the strongest finishes in our 35-year history!

As we enter the Year of the Horse in 2014, let us all remember how incredible it is that these majestic animals make such a huge impact on the lives of those they touch!

With gratitude,

Lynnette R. Stuart

Horses can sense your needs without saying a word. They help turn fear into trust, anxiety into peace and sadness into joy. They feel if you are uncertain, unbalanced or weak and challenge you to become confident, balanced and strong.

It is the intuitive powers of our horses that help us transform the lives of our students and their families.

DJ, who has autism, has found a love for horseback riding. Before coming to Fieldstone Farm he had difficulty finding a sport that he enjoyed. His brother and sister play football and volleyball, frequently bringing home awards and ribbons. DJ tried soccer but often became frustrated. He preferred to play video games and stay inside.

Then he found Fieldstone Farm.

Last fall, DJ set his sights on earning a blue ribbon at our annual horse show. After his ride, he waited wondering if he would place. When the judges announced that he won, DJ’s jaw dropped with surprise and delight. His pleasure was clearly matched by the sense of pride on the faces of his parents, his grandparents and his instructor.

Riding has been life changing for DJ. His confidence has soared. Not only does he have a blue ribbon, he now has a sport that he can call his own!

In 2013, we served 740 students, up 10 percent from 2012.

Longtime volunteer Marian Ruddock has witnessed many student milestones that have deepened her belief in the power of horses. “It’s easy to find joy in the small miracles that take place here every day,” she says recalling when . . .

A young man with little confidence, found success with horses and began to believe in himself.

A teenager who rarely speaks, became so relaxed and comfortable around the horses that he initiated a conversation with others.

A student with autism who often rocks back and forth, sat absolutely still and connected to the world while riding.

A veteran realized she was capable of being more open and patient with others after interacting with our horses.

“This is the magic that happens every day with the horses,” she says. “The bond between a horse and rider has no boundaries.”

Marian is one of 250 volunteers who come to the farm every week to work with our therapy horses and students. In 2013, our volunteers donated 22,500 hours equating to $500,000 of service. We thank our volunteers for giving of themselves. They make a tremendous difference in the lives of our students.

WE ARE EXTREMELY GRATEFUL TO OUR SUPPORTERS
